I have been using this device personally and sharing information about it with my clients now for 5 years and feel it offers the cutting edge in the new frontier of electroceutical technology. Now when I pay this device forward to my clients I am delighted to share and recommend this amazing book to not only offer Dr. Pai's contribution about it but also point out that this device will help everything else offered in the book to work more efficiently to help the body heal itself.I believe this book belongs on every physicians desk bookmarked to Dr. Pai's chapter.Celeste Yarnall, Ph.D
