Acclaimed puzzle creator, editor, and publisher Stanley Newman is crossword editor for Newsday, with puzzles syndicated worldwide. He holds the world record for the fastest completion of a New York Times crossword.

I'm using the 2015 calendar right now and have this one when 2016 rolls around. The puzzles are great. While I don't think they're really MENSAs quality, I feel quite "smart" when I've completed the daily one. Really a nice way to start the day with a puzzle and a cup of coffee.

I love these calendars with the crosswords. I tend to keep them for traveling as you can tear off a small stack and then pack it in a carry on for a plane or car trip. The difficulty is enough to keep it interesting while easy enough to get a sense of accomplishment. And the answers are on the back of the same puzzle so the cheat sheet is close!

Have used a previous year's edition of the same Mensa Crossword and loved it; I usually don't try to time myself, but will work w/o looking at the solution unless I am absolutely stumped! These puzzles are the best of their kind; extremely challenging and often making you think "outside the box". Would recommend this for any true CWP enthusiast.

My husband is an avid crossword puzzler. I am so so. I purchased this with the New York Times calendar and the two of us can breeze through most of these. I'd place it at medium difficulty.

.If they ever stop making these I don't know what I'll do. I have gotten one of these every year for many years and really enjoy them. I started out buying them for myself but over the past few years my stepdaughter has gotten them for me as a birthday gift. They are difficult enough to be challenging but not so difficult that I get frustrated. I'm not a top notch crossword puzzler so these may be too easy for some, but they are just right for me.

I really like this calendar, but I don't think the puzzles can be done in 10 minutes. Catchy title though. Good size puzzles (approximately 50 to 60 clues for both across and down) so not a quickie, lightweight puzzle. Overall very satisfied with my purchase.

Really love this! The puzzles are not too difficult---just enough to make you think, Thankfully, not a lot of reference to pop stars and actors

The print is very, very small. Even with my reading cheaters I'm squinting badly. If small print is an issue (as it can be with us over 40's).
